Standout HHS student gets air time

KTVB NewsChannel 7 anchor Doug Petcash interviews Homedale High School senior Kortney Stansell for a Distinguished Student Award feature, which will air Thursday.

Kortney Stansell named KTVB distinguished student

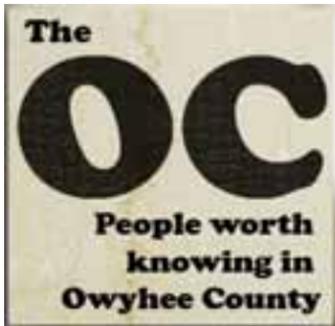

Homedale High School's Kortney Stansell will be on television this week. The HHS senior and multisport athlete is being honored with the United Dairymen of Idaho Distinguished Student Award, and will appear on KTVB Channel 7.

The award goes out weekly to an "outstanding high school senior" from the Magic Valley, southwestern or northern Idaho area to "highlight ... their achievements and accomplishments".

Stansell will receive a plaque to remember her award by, Homedale High School will net a $100 scholarship for its general academic fund from Idaho's Farm Families, according to KTVB.

Public can chime in on Homedale library tonight

Hearing covers new construction, expansion and taxing district

The options regarding the future of the Homedale Public Library will be discussed during a public hearing tonight.

The Homedale City Council will convene a public hearing during its first regular meeting of the month, which starts at 6 p.m. today inside City Hall, 31 W. Wyoming Ave.

The council seeks public input on forming a library taxing district, remodeling the current library building or building a new library.

More than a year ago, the council donated a parcel of land east of City Hall for the location of a new library with the stipulation that grant money be secured for the

Bruneau-GV schools adopt four-day week

District buildings will be closed on Mondays

The Bruneau-Grand View School District will operate on a four-day school week beginning next year.

Trustees voted 4-1 to adopt a four-day week during a Thursday meeting at Rimrock Jr.-Sr. High School.

The move is projected to save the district between $30,000 and $100,000 for the 2010-2011 year.

"The stipulation in the motion was that all buildings be closed on that day with no other functions allowed," superintendent Vickie Chandler said. "To truly see what our savings can be, we have to completely close the buildings down."

Also in a 4-1 vote, the school board froze salaries and benefits.

Faithful gather at City Hall

Nazarene pastor leads prayer in Homedale

Prayers for the nation, our military and the strength of the family unit were offered during an observance of the National Day of Prayer in Homedale.

Mountain View Church of the Nazarene pastor Chuck Ryan led the ceremony on the lawn of Homedale City Hall. About 15 people attended the noontime event, including David Fraley, senior pastor from the Canyon Hill Church of the Nazarene in Caldwell. Fraley said the closing prayer.

"I felt good about it," Ryan said of the National Day of Prayer observance. "We had many others contact us and want to be here."

Ryan said this was the second time in the past 10 years that he had organized an observance. He contacted churches in Homedale, Marsing and Wilder while putting together the event.

Additionally, he said another 79 people signed up for the 24-hour prayer time that was observed between midnight Thursday and midnight Friday. Each person volunteered for a 15-minute time slot during the round-the-clock prayer marathon.

During the observance at City Hall, Ryan read from the scriptures — Psalms 33:12: "Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord" and Jeremiah 6:16 — and offered ideas of what people pray for, including the government, business, the educational system, the churches, families and even the media.

Ryan said Jeremiah 6:16 is particularly of note during an election season and also in a time when congressional decisions are pivotal:

"Stand at the crossroads and look. Ask for the ancient path. Ask where the good way is and walk in it and you will find rest for your soul."

Marriage and the military were primary focuses.

Of marriage, Ryan asked that "God will bulletproof them and that they stay committed to one another and protect their kids."

Of the military, the prayer was profound given the setting:

"They're in harm's way so we can go to the park at night and stand on the steps of City Hall like we are today," he said.

A handful of the individuals gathered for the ceremony offered prayers for the military, for the strength of family values and against abortion.

"Prayer is just a sincere conversation you're having with God," Ryan said.

Announcing a new educational series — The American Heritage Series — to be offered at his church on Wednesdays at 7 p.m., Ryan observed that the Founding Fathers and many signers of the Constitution were heavily involved in the Bible.

Homedale Scales and Feed hosts business after hours

The next meeting of the Homedale Chamber of Commerce's Business After Hours networking evening will be held May 20 at Homedale Scales and Feed, co-hosted by Buttercup Soaps of Wilder.

Representatives for other local crafting businesses will be on hand.

The event will start at 6 p.m. and run for about an hour. Business owners and those involved in the local economy meet to hear a brief presentation from sponsoring businesses at the events, and learn more about other producers and sellers in the area.

Block Party countdown under way

The annual Homedale Block Party and carnival should be making a re-appearance in the first week of June.

The Block Party, slated for June 5, will be held at Homedale City Park, and the carnival is tentatively scheduled for June 2-6 at the Homedale High School parking lot. Tickets will be available at the gate.

Dealers will not have to pay for tables at the block party, Homedale

Chamber of Commerce president Gavin Parker said last week at the Chamber's monthly luncheon, but businesses interested are asked to RSVP to Parker to ensure space.

Parker can be reached at Bowen Parker Day certified public accountants in Homedale at 337-3271.

A citywide yard sale is planned for June 5 to coincide with the block party, Parker said. Vendor tables will be set up on the park's lower terrace, while the all-town yard sale sets up on the upper level.

He also encouraged local merchants to consider sidewalk sales events for the same day.

Candidates face Q&A Thursday in Marsing

Hopefuls in May 25 contested races commit to attend

As the primary election season winds down, candidates will gather Thursday for another forum.

Candidates in the three contested county races will appear at the Phipps-Watson Marsing American Legion Community Center, 126 W. 2nd St. N., for a forum presented by The Owyhee Avalanche and Marsing American Legion Post 128. The event begins at 8 p.m.

Bill Chisholm, the Democratic challenger to Republican incumbent Stephen Hartgen for the District 23B seat in the state House of Representatives, has said he will be on hand.

Hartgen told the Avalanche on Monday that a prior engagement will prevent him from attending.

"I do appreciate all the people who have come out for meetings this month at the senior centers in Marsing and Grand View as well as the candidates forum in Murphy," Hartgen said.

The primary election is set for May 25 in Owyhee County. Next Wednesday at 5 p.m. is the deadline to submit to the county clerk an application for a mail-in absentee ballot. The deadline for applying for in-person absentee voting is 5 p.m. on May 24. Absentee ballots must be returned by 8 p.m. May 25.

All contested county races will take place on the Republican primary ballot.

Incumbent George Hyer of Homedale is facing challenge for a four-year term as District 2 commissioner from Homedale businesspersons Kelly Aberasturi and Mary Tibbett.

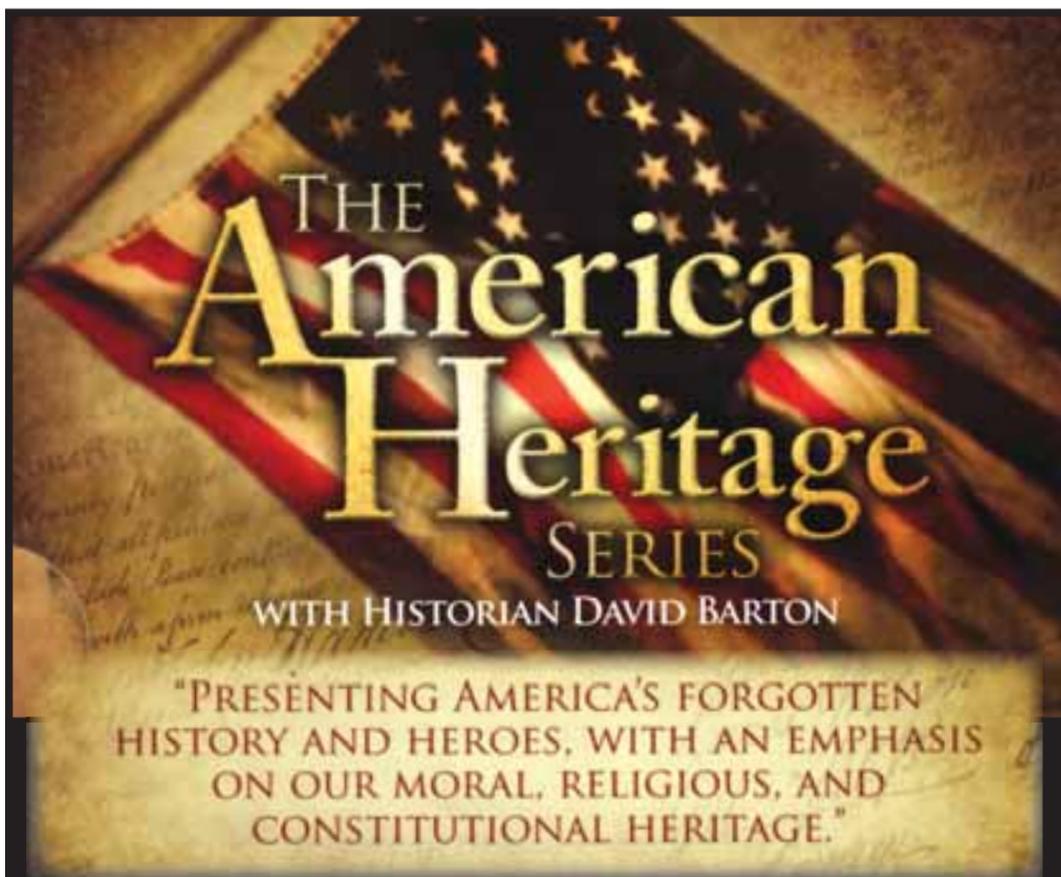

Jaymie Mercado of Homedale is the Democratic candidate for District 2.

District 3 Commissioner Dick Freund of Murphy is seeking re-election for a two-year term. Fellow Republican Joe Merrick, a Grand View farmer, is providing the challenge.

Incumbent Charlotte Sherburn faces a challenge for the county clerk position — another four-year term — from Marsing's Debbie Titus.

Assessor Brett Endicott, Treasurer Brenda Richards and Coroner Harvey Grimme all are running unopposed on the Republican ballot. They also have no challenges on the Democratic side for the Nov. 2 general election.

The Owyhee Avalanche will publish candidates responses to a series of questions on May 19.

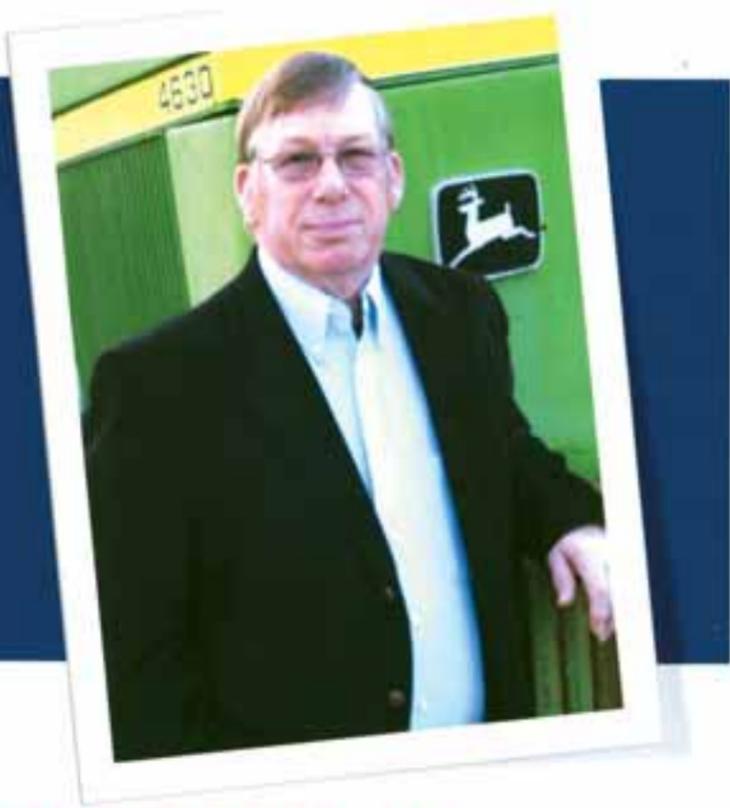

Please join us for a 15 week DVD series starting May 19, 2010 Wednesdays at 7:00 pm.

Homedale students could see shorter school year

Drops in enrollment, property value compound budget crunch

Pay cuts, job cuts and fewer school days can be expected as the Homedale school system builds its budget for next year, the district's superintendent said Thursday.

Tim Rosandick gave parents and a handful of teachers and elected officials a briefing on what the school board faces as it works up the 2010-2011 school year budget. More than 50 people attended the meeting at Homedale Middle School.

"I think it was good to hear it and see where they're at," parent Brandon Demond said. "I'm not sure how they're going to go about doing it. I feel bad for the teachers."

Demond is part of the Homedale Trojan Athletic Association that has begun a series of fundraisers to relieve the school district of next year's $30,000 sports transportation tab.

Rosandick's Power Point presentation showed, however, that the transportation bill is merely a drop in the bucket for a district facing a shortfall of more than $800,000 next year.

The school board took one of the first steps toward shoring up the situation when it declared a financial emergency during its April meeting. The Idaho Legislature passed measures to allow districts to change staff contracts during the 2010 session after legislators reduced state funding.

The loss of state funding and a decline in enrollment this year has triggered the shortfall, Rosandick said Thursday.

The district has lost 80 students in enrollment during the current school year (1,263 in August to 1,183 in April), which amounts to more than three support units from the state. Each support unit, roughly 23 students, is worth about $90,000 in funding.

State funding also has been reduced or eliminated in several categories, including Idaho Reading Indicator, classroom supplies, textbooks, technology, Gifted and Talented, Drug Free School, State Tobacco fund and Reading First.

With the conclusion of the federal stimulus funding cycle, Homedale faces a funding gap that is $463,413 greater than 2009-2010.

Compounding the situation is a dip in discretionary funding from the state and salary support totaling a loss of nearly $530,000. Rosandick pointed out that is a 12 percent drop in the state support from FY 2010.

There's also the matter of a 5.5 percent mid-year holdback that the state has encouraged districts to prepare for. That would amount to $283,000 in Homedale.

A crowd of parents and elected officials turned out to hear superintendent Tim Rosandick talk about the Homedale School District's financial forecast.

Rosandick also pointed out that revenue will dip further with falling property values. He said Canyon County assessor Gene Kuehn told him to expect a 15 percent drop in values on the north side of the Snake River. The superintendent said he hasn't received a firm number from Owyhee County Assessor Brett Endicott, but District 2 Commissioner George Hyer said during the meeting that the drop in market value could be comparable to Canyon's.

But the superintendent assured the audience that the Homedale education experience will remain well-rounded with no reductions planned in music or choir, athletics, high school electives or professional-technical courses through the Canyon-Owyhee School Service Agency.

The school year could be shortened by six or seven days, and there will be fewer early dismissals, Rosandick said.

Dwindling revenue has forced the Homedale district to drain its cash reserve by nearly 50 percent since 2007. The fund balance started at $900,000 in 2007 and is projected to be $450,502 at the close of FY 2010. The goal is to maintain it at $326,000 after the FY 2011 budget is finalized.

The economic outlook led two audience members at the HMS cafeteria — Dave Shenk and Paddy Doyle — to ask about the possibility of a four-day school week. The question came on the same night that the Bruneau-Grand View School District adopted the policy for 2010-2011.

"I was very pleased with the level of participation from community members," Rosandick said. "It reinforces that which I've known: The Homedale community cares a great deal about the education of their kids."

"There were some very good questions asked regarding the four-day school week. It would appear that there is some interest in that model."

After outlining the situation, Rosandick urged the 56 people gathered to show compassion toward the district's teachers.

"I encouraged those present to be as supportive as possible to the Homedale educators during these challenging times; especially because we will all face pay cuts," he said.

"I'm confident that the community will rally around those that work with their kids."

County pays west valley economic alliance dues

BOCC approves police veteran as marine deputy

Owyhee County has rejoined the Western Alliance for Economic Development.

The Board of County Commissioners agreed to pay $1,000 per year for the next three years. The action taken during a May 4 meeting in Murphy means Owyhee County will be the sponsoring agency for the WAED.

The Canyon County Board of Commissioners as well as representatives from WAED and Sage Community Resources met with Owyhee's commissioners on April 29 to convince them to continue paying dues beyond the initial three-year agreement. The Owyhee BOCC had eliminated alliance dues from the fiscal year 2010 budget in a cost-cutting move.

The objective of the alliance of eight cities and two counties is to create economic growth. Homedale, Marsing and Grand View all belong to the alliance. Each entity originally paid $1 for each of its citizens as annual dues.

Owyhee County will pay $1,000 annually, but District 3 Commissioner Dick Freund said that the county's contribution could increase if economic conditions improve.

Marine deputy hired

In a late development that wasn't on the original agenda, the BOCC approved John Zrofsky as an Owyhee County Sheriff's Office marine deputy. Commissioners OK'd the new employee after expressing they had difficulty reading the handwriting on the pay authorization request submitted by Sheriff Daryl Crandall and were unclear about the spelling of the new hire's name.

The commissioners also were unclear on whether the deputy would be a part-timer, but a Waterways Committee allocation request from the BOCC's April 6 meeting listed 640 hours at $13.34 per hour for a certified marine deputy for enhanced patrol at CJ Strike Reservoir. At that time, the commissioners tabled the marine deputy request, priced at $8,640, to get more information.

In the new employee request, Crandall said Zrofsky served "30 years as commander" with the Los Angeles Police Department. A subsequent Internet search by The Owyhee Avalanche revealed that Zrofsky served with the LAPD for decades before moving on to serve as the Shafter, Calif., police chief from 1998 to 2006.

Crandall did not attend the meeting.

New road supervisor appointed

Commissioners completed their search for a new District 1 road supervisor with the hiring of Phil Rittenhouse at a rate of $18.15 per hour.

Rittenhouse replaces Larry McDaniel. Commissioner Jerry Hoagland had served as interim road district supervisor until Rittenhouse was hired.

Homedale postal carriers collect food for those in need

The annual United States Postal Service Stamp Out Hunger drive netted 673 pounds of food and $48 in cash donations on Saturday, Homedale Postmaster Rob Herndon said.

"I thought the community did a very good job this year," Herndon said. While the food drive originated for urban carriers, rural carriers have gotten on board as well, Herndon said. "All the food was distributed locally, through El-Ada and the (Homedale) senior center," he said. The $48 in cash went to the Idaho Food Bank.

"People in this community have always been willing to help," Herndon said. "They do a good job in this community."

Library: P&Z administrator issue appears on tonight's council agenda construction. No grant money has been obtained yet, library director Margaret Fujishin told the council last month.

A second option is expanding the existing 30-year-old library building located at 125 W. Owyhee Ave.

The price tags for a new library and expanding the current building both have been estimated at more than $300,000. Caldwell-based R&M Steel has donated a structure for the shell of a new library.

The city council also is scheduled to take up the appointment of the Planning and Zoning administrator later in tonight's meeting.

At the council's April 22 meeting, Robert Brinegar was brought forward by Mayor Harold Wilson for appointment to the position currently held by Sylvia Bahem. When members of the P&Z board protested, Wilson asked them to bring their recommendation for the position to tonight's meeting.

A representative of the Idaho Department of Health and Welfare will give information at tonight's meeting regarding disposing of unwanted prescription drugs. The presentation is part of the council's preparation for a citywide cleanup day that could take place in the summer.

A second public hearing will be held at 6 p.m. Thursday at City Hall on the proposed amendment of the city's zoning code to make roping arenas a permitted use in industrial zones and a use requiring a special permit if built in commercial districts.

Stansell: Honor Society student enrolled at ISU to study computers

In addition, Stansell has a chance at a $5,000 scholarship to be awarded at the end of the year to one of the weekly winners.

The interview took place in the HHS library, and Stansell answered KTVB anchor Doug Petcash's questions while other students looked on.

"It was pretty cool," she said of the interview. "I was nervous," she admitted. "I'm really a shy person."

Homedale principal Mike Williams said he'd nominated Stansell because of her leadership qualities, and the fact that she was always helping and involved.

Stansell, as one of a handful of seniors in sports heavily crewed by sophomores, has spent her senior year mentoring players, working with elementary students, helping with the Homedale Smorgasbord, carrying a 3.7 grade-point average, being a member of the National Honor Society, acting as a teacher's aide in her classes, working with concessions to help raise athletic funds, working on community food boxes for the Christmas holidays, and generally being on the go 24/7.

Stansell recently nabbed an academic letter for her already crowded Trojans jacket, and serves as captain of the HHS basketball, volleyball and softball teams this year. She's enrolled at Idaho State University for the fall semester, with her eye on a degree in computer programming — a career that attracted her after she took some Web and computer courses.

While she thinks she'll probably play intramural sports while attending school, she said she had no plans to pursue organized competition at the collegiate level.

When asked where she'll be in 10 years, Stansell smiled.

"Honestly I have no idea. I'll probably live back here in Homedale. All my family lives here."

Stansell's interview will be televised on Thursday at 10 p.m. and Saturday at 8 a.m.

Schools: District will review new schedule after 2010-2011 school year

District staff voted to increase their health insurance premiums in an effort to preserve a higher rate of take-home pay, Chandler said.

Chandler was thrilled that staff pay cuts were avoided.

"I think this is absolutely wonderful because we're not going backwards," she said. "So many schools in the state are cutting salaries and school days to stay in budget."

Zone 5 trustee Howard Field cast a dissenting vote in both instances. A message seeking comment wasn't returned.

The action came after public meetings and a survey regarding the idea to institute a four-day week in an effort to cut costs. According to projections, the district could receive $450,000 less in state funding in 2010-2011.

The four-day week will be Tuesday through Friday. Chandler said a number of surveys returned by parents reflected that Mondays were big nights for family activities.

The closures will affect all three campuses — Bruneau and Grand View elementaries and Rimrock — and the district office hours will be modified.

As with surveys sent out before the school board voted, the public will be polled about the popularity of the four-day week after the next school year to see if the district will stay the course. Chandler said most districts that have switched to four-day weeks stay that way.

Chandler said there will be a couple of exceptions to the Tuesday-Friday format, with students attending school on Monday during the week of Thanksgiving and also during the week of the annual statewide in-service day.

The school day will be lengthened by 35 minutes, and buildings will be open 162 days during the school year. The precise schedule won't be finalized until the next school board meeting. A committee is working on the schedule this week, and it will be presented to trustees for adoption at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 20, at Rimrock, Chandler said.

She added that sick days for staff as well as truancy and excessive absence guidelines for students will be adjusted because of the condensed school year. Each calendar day will be the equivalent of about 1.12 school days, Chandler said.

Several school districts across Idaho already run on four-day weeks, including Horseshoe Bend, Council and Garden Valley, which are Rimrock rivals in athletic competition. Chandler said those districts experience anywhere from one percent to three percent savings on their annual budget compared to a five-week schedule.

Four-day weeks also will help save substitute teacher costs, Chandler speculates. The district has paid $19,000 for substitutes this year. With a four-day week, though, teachers will require fewer personal days to take care of business, lessening the need for fill-ins.

The four-day week also eliminates the need for a supplemental levy. Chandler said the Bruneau-Grand View district traditionally has been able to generate enough operating revenue without resorting to levies.

"With all the dire predictions about next year, we wanted to try every option possible before considering a levy," Chandler said.

ATTENTION ALL OWYHEE COUNTY LAND OWNERS AND CITIZENS BEFORE THE OWYHEE COUNTY PLANNING & ZONING COMMISSION

The Owyhee County Planning and Zoning Commission will hold its second round of public meetings to hear comments and input regarding the proposed Owyhee County Comprehensive Plan Revision. The Planning and Zoning Commission and Comprehensive Plan Sub-committee members have completed their work revising the Comprehensive Plan and are eager to hear your input on this very important document. The proposed draft revision is available in the Planning and Zoning Office in Murphy, Homedale City Hall, Marsing City Hall, and Grand View City Hall. You can also find the proposed revised plan on the county web site at www.owyheecounty.net along with the current Comprehensive Plan as well as a copy of the plan that shows all additions and deletions.

The public meetings will be held June 8th, 9th, and 10th, at the following times and locations:

June 8th, 2010 from 6:00 PM to 8:00 PM at the Rimrock High School Auditorium, 39678 State Hwy 78 Bruneau, Idaho

June 9th, 2010 from 6:00 PM to 8:00 PM at the Owyhee County Court House, 20381 State Highway 78, Murphy, Idaho.

June 10th, 2010 from 6:00 PM to 8:00 PM at the Marsing American Legion Community Hall, 126 2nd St. Marsing, Idaho

Your participation in these meetings is critical. For additional information please contact the Planning and Zoning office at 495-2095.

Obituary

Barbara June (Blair) Chynoweth

On April 30, 2010 Barbara June (Blair) Chynoweth passed away after a courageous battle with cancer. On January 25, 1940, in Pocatello, ID mom joined her sister Dorothy and brother Stan in bringing joy to her parents George & Virginia Blair. She was raised in Twin Falls graduating in 1958. In 1964, she met, fell in love and married Bob Chynoweth. Denise was born in 1966, followed by Thomas in 1970. They later divorced.

Her greatest joys were her grandkids Austyn, Avery, Jackson and Zoey.

Mom joins in heaven her parents George and Virginia Blair, Brother Stanley Blair, and Bob Chynoweth. She leaves behind her daughter Denise Chynoweth, granddaughter Austyn, Son Tom (Melinda) Chynoweth, grandkids Avery, Jackson and Zoey, all of Caldwell, Sister Dorothy (Larry) Turner, nephew Steven (Dana) Perry, son Turner, Niece Susan (Kelly) Perry, Daughter Sophia all of Las Vegas. Mother wanted a "Dancing with Jesus" celebration at Deer Flat Church, 17703

Beet Rd., Caldwell on Monday May 17th 2010, at 4 pm. In lieu of flowers donations can be made to the American Heart Association or The Susan G Komen Foundation.

Homedale TOPS elects new officers

The Homedale chapter of TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) has announced recent contest winners.

Teddy Rensink of Homedale was named the biggest loser and received a lighted rose. A new biggest loser is named each month.

Margaret Huff of Parma was the New Year's resolution contest winner, scoring 63 out of 64 and taking home a gift basket.

The Homedale chapter recently installed new officers: Darlene Merchant of Wilder, leader; Barbara Troxel, Marsing, co-leader; Nancy Belknap, Homedale, secretary; Ruby Miller, Homedale, treasurer; Rensink, weight recorder; and Huff, assistant recorder.

Miller says the local TOPS chapter puts on programs about weight loss nearly every time it meets. Weekly meetings are held at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday at the First Presbyterian Church, 320 N. 6th St. W., in Homedale.

Men, women and teens who want to lose weight are invited to attend and learn more about the organization.

Tragic Reality of our Corrupt Legal System

I, Franklin D. Stafford Sr., will be hosting two meetings to dispute the supreme court claim that was in the Idaho Statesman on the 29th of April, 2010 that claims Judge John Bradberry was deceiving Idaho Voters.

I will be speaking out about the corruption in the Judicial System that has gone on, in my case, for 14 years. I ask people to come speak of their experiences to show why we need a complete overhaul of our Justice System.

This is why we need more judges like Judge John Bradberry in office.

Crime briefs

On May 4, a man was arrested for disturbing the peace and carrying a concealed weapon at the Marsing Labor Camp. Esequiel Almeida Espinoza, 48, was arrested by OCSO Deputy Perry Grant at approximately 9:43 p.m. Homedale Police, Marsing Am-balance and Idaho Department of Fish and Game officer Craig Mickleson also responded. Mickleson said the call had initially been of shots fired, and given his location in Sunnyslope at the time, and the nearest backup being HPD Officer Steve Atkins, he had responded as well. As it happened, no shots had been fired, though Espinoza was charged with a weapons violation.

Espinoza was charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon in a Nampa case in 2003, but entered a guilty plea to a reduced charge of battery-domestic violence. He was on probation for two years following the conviction.

Deputies arrested Marsing resident Jose Luis Quebrado, 24, for DUI. Quebrado was arrested on May 2 just after 11 p.m. near the intersection of Main Street and Kerry Street in Marsing.

Two more business burglaries were reported in the county, one in Melba on May 1, and the second in Bruneau on May 3. Both incidents are active cases under investigation.

While there has been some talk about wire thieves looting copper and other scrap metals in the county, Sheriff Daryl Crandall said he was not aware of any such reports.

Homedale Ag Expo

Jessica Eubanks (above) and Aubrey Nash (below) were among the many FFA members who helped educate and entertain 350 elementary school students on Friday from 8 a.m. to noon at the Owyhee County Fairgrounds.

The event this year featured more than a dozen stations, which covered subjects ranging from animals to crops like mint and apples to a chance to see a tractor close up. Youngsters got to meet and pet the animals, make butter and learn about the many specialties that make up the agricultural industry.

“Noisy Nora” read at Homedale Story Time

“Noisy Nora” by Rosemary Wells is the next featured tale for the Homedale Public Library’s next Story Time.

The story will be told at 10:15 a.m. on Friday. The library is located at 125 W. Owyhee Ave.

For more information, call 337-4228 afternoons between 1 p.m. and 5 p.m.

Along with the story, there will be refreshments, songs and crafts.

Nora’s little brother, Jack, and her sister are taking up their parents’ time so Nora has to wait. Nora tries to get attention but just gets in trouble so she decides to run away. “She’s left us!” moaned her mother as she sifted through the trash. Will Nora ever come back?

Maggard, Johnson head to Girls State

by Carolyn Grooms, ALA 32

The ladies of the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 32 of Homedale are proud to announce the names of our delegates to the 64th annual Idaho Syringa Girls State.

Sarah Maggard and Caitlyn

Johnson are both juniors at Homedale High School and carry high grade point averages.

Girls State will be held at Northwest Nazarene University in Nampa the week of June 13-19. The girls learn about how the city, county and state government operates.

We believe these girls will be a credit to our unit and our community.

Anyone who wishes to contribute to help defray their expenses can send their contribution to the American Legion Auxiliary, P.O. Box 1056, Homedale, ID, 83628.

For more information, call 249-6021.

Local seniors named as DAR Good Citizens

Two Owyhee high school seniors have been selected Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizens.

Homedale’s Kindra Galloway and Kacie Hull from Marsing were among five girls selected by the Idaho Pocahontas Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

According to a press release, each school selected a senior who best exemplifies the principles of leadership, service, dependability and patriotism.

All nominees become eligible for a scholarship. Parma’s Rebecca Cox won the Pocahontas Chapter’s scholarship and finished second in the statewide contest.

Other local Good Citizens included Greenleaf’s Jessica Hribik and Vallivue’s Ana Sanchez.

Look Up. Look Around.

Be Safe.

Always look up before moving irrigation pipe or ladders, and operating a crane or other equipment that may come in contact with overhead power lines. Federal and State law requires you stay a safe distance of 10 feet or more away from overhead power lines.

Looking out for our communities.

WALT BAYES FOR GOVERNOR

1. Life and our inalienable inherent Constitutional rights start at conception.
2. We should greatly increase the penalties and correction of sex offenders, drunk drivers, illegal drugs, gang members and the illegal use of firearms.
3. Canadian wolves are not interstate commerce, therefore, it is not Uncle Sam's business what we do with them. We have about 800 wolves which kill about 40,000 deer and elk per year. If elected, I will defend our game animals from the Feds and the wolves.
4. I will work to obtain equal Education benefits for all school children no matter what school they attend this will permit unemployed and under employed parents to choose their children's education and still make car and house payments.
5. We need to reclaim Idaho title and management of the so-called Federal Public lands. If these were properly managed, it would greatly help our school funds and our unemployed.
6. The more of God we take out of our schools, the more prisons we will have to build for our ungodly graduates. We need to return to God and his morals.
7. Any person, school, school teachers, library or librarian should be held criminally responsible for any pornography to which they allow children access.

Library talk looks at Owyhees identity

Next Wednesday's Bruneau and Beyond program will address the history that made the Owyhee country what it is today.

Dr. John Beiter, associate professor of history at Boise State University, will present the topic of "Owyhees: American Identity and the West" at the event, which follows a no-charge noon luncheon at the Bruneau Valley Library at 32073 Ruth Street in Bruneau.

In his program, Beiter will use stories to explain the formation of the Western identity, a program release said. Beiter's stories cover subjects including the cattle-sheep wars, Indian massacres, mining claims and land disputes.

At BSU, Beiter acts as an advisor for pre-service educators. He also serves as director of the Center for Basque Studies.

This will be Beiter's second visit to Bruneau. In his first, he spoke on Basque history. He is a member of the Speaker's Bureau of the Idaho Humanities Council, one of the sponsors of the Bruneau and Beyond program.

The library requests those planning to attend to contact the library director at (208) 845-2131 or (208) 845-2345 to RSVP a spot.

Activities planned around GV car show

Seniors, 4-H plan fundraisers May 22

Classic car enthusiasts will have plenty of chrome and polished metal to look at during the Grand View Cruise Car Show, and local organizations will use associated activities as fundraisers.

Boise resident Chuck Keenan, whose daughter Patty Waltz owns Grand View's Y Bar and Cafe with her husband, Dick, is organizing a cruise from Nampa to Grand View on May 22.

Keenan has about 25 car owners signed up thus far, but he's looking for more to take part in the free event. Entrants don't have to cruise from Nampa to take part in the festivities; they can also enter their car in the Grand View events, which will include a show and shine in front of Grand View City Park, a 200-foot limited-distance dash down Main Street — which will be closed during the event — and a Backroads Old Iron Tour or a trip to the Emuseum after lunch.

Keenan said many enthusiasts will meet for breakfast at the Canyon Creek restaurant in Nampa, but the group will stage at Dan's Ferry Service on Idaho highway 45 later in the morning for the formal cruise down Idaho 78 to Grand View the morning of May 22. Vehicles are expected to arrive in Grand View by noon. The Y Bar and Cafe will serve an $8 all-you-can-eat barbecued ribs lunch.

Keenan said Grand View Mayor Paul Spang will be among those displaying their cars. Spang owns a 1969 Corvette, and Keenan drives a 1956 Chevrolet 210 coupe.

"We're still trying to trump up things in Grand View," Patty Waltz said. "I hope it brings the kids and dads out to look at the fancy, hot cars."

Grand View organizations will be holding fundraisers during the car show.

The Country Critters 4-H Club will sell lemonade and cookies in the park during the car show.

An ice cream social and silent auction also are planned at the Rimrock Senior Center, 525 Main St., next to the park from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. on May 22.

Several organizations, businesses and individuals have donated items for the auction, including quilters from the center's Tuesday Quilters group.

Verla Robinson is the silent auction chair and can be contacted at (208) 834-2419. Anna Hency and Willie Roby are the co-chairs for the ice cream social.

Wilson Butte 4-H annual trail ride sees big turnout

Blackstock Ranch saw 138 riders attend the seventh annual Wilson Butte 4-H Cowboy trail ride on April 24.

Cowboy Beans and cowchip cookies were served up as the Sevy Family band entertained and played country music.

Lacey Usabel won the "fun run" event, and chose a western etched mirror as first prize. Jan Maxie took second, winning a headstall.

Young cowhands came to the ride dressed up in their western attire to compete in the best-dressed little buckaroo contest. Lacy Sevy and Cooper Griggs won the crowd vote to win the contest trophies.

Top ticket sales went to club members Megan Smith, Kate Blackstock and Joseph Ineck.

Cecily Vietti and Val Brisbin won the western quilts in the ride raffle. Sandi O'Dell won the $100 gas card, Joy Monson the western pillows and Laura Maupin the wildflower birdhouse.

Mary Blackstock, event organizer, extended thanks to Dan Sevy and his crew for their musical efforts. "They've supported us for the last seven years, and it adds so much to the western day," Blackstock reported. "We all come together, head to our stations; everything runs smooth and we have fun."

The Wilson Butte 4-H club extended thanks to all its supporters, including Dave and Teresa Prow, the Ada County Farm Bureau, Bass Auto Body, Essence of Life, Melissa and Leslie Jayo, Connie Doan, WSI, The Spot pizza, Bolhkie Angus, Wildflower Cottage, Benson Truck Wash Out, Rubin and Margarita Bendiola, Janet Cooney, David and Sharon Van-Wassenhove, Simplot Grower Solutions, Rock and Laurie Smith, Lil' Oasis-Volker's Family, Jerry and Judy Ralls, Dan's Ferry Service, Steve Reagan, Idaho Army Guard-SSG Matt Wilson, Farm Bureau Canyon County, Lath and Stacy Calloway and the Snake River Mart.

Homedale soars to co-title in golf

Big winds didn't faze Reece Landa in the final conference golf meet of the season.

The Homedale High School senior was the only player on the Scotch Pines Golf Course to break 40, and his 3-over-par medalist score of 39 pushed the Trojans to a co-championship in the 3A Snake River Valley conference.

The Trojans tied Payette for the regular-season crown after dusting the field by 14 strokes May 3 in Payette. Fruitland was second with a 179, while Payette was 15 shots back in third place.

Fellow senior Cody Johnson scored a 40 as Homedale posted its fourth consecutive team victory and captured its sixth tournament of the season despite winds that gusted to 40 mph at times.

Homedale posted a 165 team score.

"I'm real proud of them," first-year coach Greg Kilmer said. "They played well in horrible conditions."

Freshman Reed Maggard turned in another impressive round with a 41, while senior Ryan Ryska carded a 45.

The Trojans were back at Scotch Pines on Tuesday after deadline for the 18-hole 3A District III Tournament.

Young anglers fish with Smokey

Young anglers enrolled in Head Start preschool programs in Marsing and Wilder got a chance to fish with a famous bear on Saturday.

The Marsing Head Start Spring Fling at Marsing Pond ran from 10 a.m. to noon, and there was more than just fishing on hand. Events included face painting, a bubble station and a visit from Smokey Bear.

The Spring Fling was held for children attending Head Start preschool in Marsing and Wilder. Students were from Marsing, Homedale, Parma and Wilder.

About 90 youngsters learned fishing basics at the event, Idaho Department of Fish and Game senior conservation officer Craig Mickleson said. Approximately 50 adults were also present at the event.

Officers from Idaho Fish and Game, the Bureau of Land Management and the Wilder Police Department assisted young anglers at the event. Volunteers from IDFG and the Owyhee County Sheriff's Posse also taught first time anglers how to fish, Mickleson said.

Trojans split final SRV baseball games

Shanley's grand slam helps HHS pound M-D

The final week of the regular season was one of soaring highs and fantastic lows for Homedale High School baseball.

In the span of 24 hours, the Trojans won and lost 3A Snake River Valley conference games via the 10-run rule.

Brett Shanley ripped a grand slam and drove in six runs as Homedale crushed McCall-Donnelly, 18-3, in five innings in Owyhee County on May 4.

On Wednesday, Payette collected a lopsided victory with the mercy rule, prevailing, 24-5, at Harmon Killebrew Field.

Wednesday: Payette 24, Homedale 5 (5) — The host Pirates scored all their runs in four at-bats, including 12 in the bottom of the fourth.

Nine of Payette's 11 hits were singles. The Pirates scored 14 times against starter Zac Lowder and tagged Shanley with 10 runs in the fourth. Only eight of the team's runs were earned as Homedale committed eight errors.

Homedale sophomore shortstop Trey Corta was 3-for-3 with a triple from the top of the order.

May 4: Homedale 18, McCall-Donnelly 3 (5) — Shanley's afternoon at the plate gave senior left-handed pitcher Jose Gonzalez more than enough breathing room.

Gonzalez struck out nine over five innings for the easy win.

The Trojan, playing as visitors at home, scored 12 times in the top of the fifth inning to put the game away. Shanley crushed his grand slam, and Zac Lowder had a bases-clearing triple in the uprising.

With the Vandals committing five errors, Homedale needed just nine hits to fuel its successful offense.

Shanley scored three times, while leadoff man Corta went 3-for-4 with three runs scored and two RBI and a double.

Third baseman Alex Harden scored twice and knocked in a pair of runs.

Jordan Valley hosts Big Loop this weekend

Buckles and a saddle are up for grabs this weekend in the 52nd annual Jordan Valley Big Loop rodeo.

An afternoon team roping performance and the Big Loop competition takes place on Friday.

The rodeo begins at 1:30 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday at the Jordan Valley Rodeo Arena.

Admission is $7 for adults and $3 for children 13 and younger. Pat Stanford will serve as the rodeo announcer again.

The Big Loop grand prize is a saddle donated by the Jordan Valley Rodeo Board, Intermountain Community Bank, Pruett Tire and Lumber, Walt Morgan Memorial, WT Bruce Photography and MGM Contractors.

Other events for the weekend rodeo include saddle bronc riding, calf roping, senior barrel racing, bull riding, stock saddle bronc, team roping, cow riding for ages 15-18, junior barrel racing for children 14 and younger and junior steer riding for ages 10-14.

First-place buckles made by Homedale's Delwyne Trefz will be awarded. George Michel and Tex and Agnes Payne donated the all around trophies.

Rodeo stock will be provided by King Cattle Co., Blossom Ranches and Tom Davis Livestock, and the announcer once again will be Pat Stanford.

For more information on the Big Loop, visit www.biglooprodeo.com.

HHS tennis drops two heading into district

Homedale High School makes a quick turnaround to visit Parma again this week for the 3A District III Tennis Tournament.

The Trojans closed the 3A Snake River Valley conference season Thursday with a 10-2 setback at the hands of the powerful Panthers.

Juniors Tanner Lair and Jordan Meligan won the top two boys' singles matches for Homedale's only victories.

The district tournament begins Thursday at Parma. Matches start at 4 p.m., followed by 9 a.m. starts Friday and Saturday.

Meligan and Lair have been the consistent winners for coach Mark Weekes' squad this season, but the Trojans' top mixed doubles team — Jordan Brady and Sarah Mag-gard — got in on the winning May 4 at home against Weiser.

Brady and Maggard rallied from a second-set loss to beat the Wolverines' Darin Thomas and Mckenzie Messick, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3, in the No. 2 mixed doubles match. The Wolverines prevailed, 9-3, in conference dual meet.

Lair (No. 1) and Meligan (No. 2) continued their control of the court with boys' singles victories in both of the Trojans' tilts.

Lair beat Parma's Steen Miller, 6-4, 6-0, on Thursday. Meligan triumphed over the Panthers' Kirk Rohrbacher, 6-1, 6-1.

On May 4 against Weiser, Meligan stopped Thomas Sharp in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1. Lair did the same against Austin Winegar, 6-0, 6-1.

Leroy Breshears Fishing Day returns to Island Park

Young anglers will have a chance to fish free at the 11th annual Leroy Breshears Memorial Fishing Day at Marsing's Island Park on June 5. Breshears was a longtime sheriff's Posse member and Hunter Education instructor, and the event is held yearly in his memory by the Owyhee County Posse and the Idaho Department Fish and Game.

Fishing will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Safari Club International will have a trailered airgun shooting range on hand as well, IDFG officer Craig Mickleson said. Organizers ask those attending to bring one can of food per fisherman as a food drive donation.

The event welcomes children from kindergarten through sixth grade. Youths need to be accompanied by an adult (18 or older), and organizers ask that participants bring their own fishing tackle. While there will be some rods and reels available for those in need of gear, supplies will be limited.

Craig Mickelson and Posse president Doug Hipwell are heading up the effort this year. Last year's event attracted more than 200 children and their parents.

The state Fish and Game department will plant several 12- to 14-inch trout for the fishing day, and some larger trophy fish have been purchased from a private hatchery by the Posse. Mickelson said there will be some rainbow trout in the two- to three-pound range, and some golden trout weighing about a pound apiece.

There are several prizes up for grabs, including for first fish caught by a boy and a girl, largest fish caught by a boy and a girl and first limits taken by a boy and a girl. The contest applies to trout, and all grass carp caught during the day must be returned to the pond.

Cheyenne Davis, 8, and her 2009 prizewinning trout

Posse members and Fish and Game personnel will be on hand to help with all the elementary details of fishing. Lunch and ice cream also is being provided for participating youngsters.

Although young anglers can sign up at the park when the event begins, pre-registration is recommended. Registration sheets are available at Matteson's Owyhee Auto Sales in Homedale, Snake River Mart in Marsing and Gus' Gas in Grand View.

The pond will open for fishing for everyone else, with all laws and regulations to be observed, after 1 p.m.

Businesses wishing to make donations can contact Posse members, Mickleson said. In the Homedale area the contact is Kent Curtis, Tony Malmberg in Marsing, and Doug Hipwell in south and central Owyhee County.

Free fishing day 2010

The following Saturday, June 12 is Free Fishing Day statewide, and IDFG extended an invitation to veteran and novice anglers of all ages, residents and nonresidents alike, to celebrate the day by fishing anywhere in Idaho without a license.

Though fishing license requirements are suspended for the 12th, all other rules, such as limits or tackle restrictions, remain in effect.

"Free fishing day provides a great opportunity for novices to give fishing a try and perhaps develop it into a life-long pursuit," Fish and Game regional fish manager Jeff Dillon said. "Parents are encouraged to bring their children out for a day of fun fishing excitement."

At special locations around the southwest region, equipment will be available for use and fishing experts will be on hand to help novice anglers learn the ins and outs of fishing. In addition, all these locations will be stocked with hatchery rainbow trout prior to the special day. Specific locations have not yet been released.

For more information regarding Free Fishing Day, contact the Fish and Game Nampa office (465-8465) or the McCall office (634-8137).

Homedale Youth Bowlers send 19 to state

The budding bowlers of the Homedale youth league saw 19 of 25 compete at the Idaho State youth tournament on May 1-2, bringing home $1,450 in scholarship funds for their educational futures.

Bowling boss Aaron Hergesheimer was thrilled by the results, and enjoyed working with the young bowlers.

"It was a blast; seeing their faces. You won't understand it until you're right there," he said of watching children score their first 100 game, or first 200. "Our youngest bowler, a 5-year-old, made it to state. I was so proud of them." Scholarship winners included Dan McGee ($300), Dusti Marose ($300), David Clampitt ($600), David Christensen ($150) and Danny Gomez ($100).

Homedale's Youth Bowling League provided $1,200 of scholarships itself in the past year, Hergesheimer said. Hergesheimer, who was at a tournament of his own in Reno during the league's efforts in Twin Falls, said he was getting updates via his cell phone as he was bowling. He was focused on how well the Homedale bowlers were doing.

"I didn't really care how I did," he said. He said he owed thanks to all the parents, coaches, donators, supporters and volunteers who made the team's year possible.

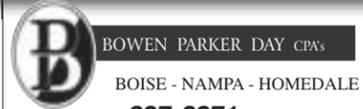

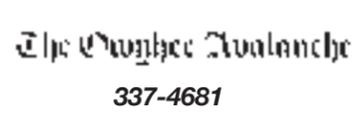

"If it wasn't for them, it wouldn't be going as well as it is," he said.

Hergesheimer is already looking ahead to next year's youth league. He said the Bowling Blast Off at Owyhee Lanes is slated for August, with the league starting to roll in the second week of September. Parents with young bowlers-to-be can contact Owyhee Lanes at (208) 337-3757 for more information as the season approaches.

Sunny weather at Sundance

Saturday saw a packed house at Sundance Park in Homedale as youth sports teams gathered from around the area and managed to squeeze in a tournament before the weather took a turn for the gloomier.

Crappie slow, rainbows remain reliable at CJ

CJ Strike Reservoir

Yellow perch: Fishing for yellow perch has been poor. If you go for them anyway, use small pieces of cut bait and to fish close to the bottom. Sooner or later they will have to come in shallow to spawn, hopefully this month some time.

Smallmouth bass: Fishing is fair, changing frequently during the week. Fish rocky shoreline areas that have direct sun where the water should be the warmest most of the day. Use plastic baits (tubes, grubs, etc.) in dark colors. Experienced bass fishermen are lucky to catch five or six per day right now.

Rainbows: Most of the fish are being caught from the bank on worms and marshmallows fished on the bottom. Right now, rainbows are being caught more consistently than anything else.

Bluegill: Not happening.

Crappie: Pretty tough sledding right now for about 95 percent of the anglers seeking them. The catch rates for crappie were better in February and March than they were in late April. The most consistent crappie catches are coming from the river right below CJ Strike Dam between 9:30 p.m. and 6:30 a.m. You better really want crappie to fish those hours.

Catfish: The Bruneau Arm is beginning to produce a few bull-heads here and there, but channel cats have not shown up yet. Fish around Cottonwood or Jacks Creek.

Snake River

Channel catfish: Not yet. Fish are still few and far between. Still a little early.

Smallmouth bass: A few are being caught here and there. Anglers should use the same lures and techniques as mentioned above.

Sturgeon: Like everything else, really hit or miss. Folks who are patient should find a bite or two. Most anglers are using chunks of crappie.

Bruneau River

Although the fishing regulations state that the river is open from the mouth in CJ Strike Reservoir to the Hot Springs Bridge south of Bruneau, the portion that runs through the CJ Strike Wildlife Management Area is not accessible because of the annual nesting closure in the management area.

Upcoming CJ Strike bass tournament:

Date: Saturday
 Location: Black Sands boat ramp
 Sponsor: Wyoming Bass Federation
 Time: 5 a.m. to 5 p.m.
 30 persons/15 boats maximum
 Catch and release

Bell opts for another year as superintendent

Homedale superintendent Deward Bell reported that he will serve as administrator of the Homedale School District for one more year, until July 1986. Several board meetings ago, Bell told the trustees that we would consider remaining with the district with their support. The board members voted unanimously to retain him in the position.

Bell announced his intention to retire this summer at a February 12 district meeting. He added that the trustees are involved in more professional training in the realm of improving the district, a development that prompted him to postpone retirement.

The question of building improvements for the Homedale School District was brought up at the Monday meeting. Chairman Kirt Weimer listed three classrooms on the side of the junior high, superintendent's and clerk's offices, and a parent-teacher conference area to be used as a board room. The present room would be converted to an area for computer studies. The three classrooms would be added between the science wing and the media center.

Trustee Gary Garrett said he felt the media center would be fine for a board room, if needed. He asked Weimer if enough money existed to fund the projects. Weimer answered that there was and the improvements would finish all the smaller projects before asking the patrons for a bond levy for the grade school in the future.

Marsing school budget viewed

A budget of $1,217,765 for the Marsing School District was presented to the trustees on Thursday night for inspection. An official budget hearing will be held on June 13 for public input. The $1.2 million figure is around 4% higher than last year's.

Superintendent Duane Root outlined the budget proposal. "It's a tight budget. We are stable, but not flush," he explained. Last year, the district counted on 35 teaching units for income, but only received 34.4, because of several students leaving school. Root said this year's budget would adhere to the 34.4 unit mark.

Elementary and secondary teachers will receive a total of $585,000, up approximately $25,000 from last year. The transportation allocation last year was set around $81,000 but actually spent $71,000, so that will be the level established this year. The trustees were asked to review the proposal for the next meeting and offer any changes at that time.

Army reserve constructs building

The 321st Engineering Battalion of the Idaho Army Reserve arrived in Murphy last Sunday, May 11 to begin construction on a new exhibit building for the Owyhee County Museum. They will spend their annual two-week training session in Murphy, as well as several weekend sessions during the summer months.

The museum is building a replica of a stamp mill which was used on War Eagle Mountain near Silver City. Stamp mills were one of several methods used by miners to release gold and silver ore from the worthless rocks and less valuable minerals. The first stamp mill in the county, the Minear Mill, was built and put into operation in 1864, just one year after the discovery of gold along Jordan Creek.

The equipment for the museum's stamp mill was donated by Richard Leonard of Boise. Leonard's father had purchased the equipment about 1909 from another mill, and set up a short distance above Silver City near the workings of the former Poorman Mine and Mill. Members of the Leonard family operated the mill until 1949.

Airport day set for Saturday

A work day will again be held at the Homedale airport Saturday, May 14 to re-gravel the strip and do leveling and fill-in work in the area back of the hangars, now a swamp.

Ray Mansisor, chairman, said graders, loaders and dump trucks have been arranged for the day, but two more "cats and cans" are needed to do the fill-in work.

He said only one "cat and can" has been lined up, but he has a promise of two graders, two or three loaders and five or six dump trucks. A few more dump trucks could also be used.

He also said women volunteers are urgently needed to help serve the lunch at noon, which will be held at the field in one of the hangars instead of at the city park as it was two years ago when the airport was originally built.

Water pipes broken

The city water crew has been busy this week repairing a break in a water line in the street in front of the Homedale Auto Supply. Another break developed in the street next to the St. Hubert's Catholic church.

Women bowlers, sponsors enjoy banquet Tuesday

The Women's Bowling association banquet held Tuesday evening at the legion hall was attended by about 190 bowlers and sponsors and their wives.

City Association officers elected for the coming year are: president, Lois Manning; vice-president, Mary Evans; secretary, Verna Costely; treasurer, Geri Martinat; sergeant-at-arms, Bette Uda.

Citizen of the week

Jim Hill, who served on the Homedale police force for 12 years, eight years as the chief of police, has been a resident of Homedale for the past 23 years. Hill is now employed at the Home Lumber company.

He was born March 28, 1900, at Welch, Okla. His parents had settled in what was known as the Indian Territory and later moved to Nebraska and Wyoming. He received most of his schooling at Torrington, Wyo.

When only 16 years old he rode his first bucking bronc and for 10 years after that followed the rodeo circuit, participating in all events.

He married Iva Trussell in Orchard, Neb., March 24, 1926. They have five children, Lester, living at Adrian; Mary Lou (Mrs. Robert) Hays, living south of town; Marvin, local barber; Clyde, living at Nampa, and Donna (Mrs. Russell) Hulse, Idaho Falls. All are married and have given the Hills 10 grandchildren.

When the family first moved here he worked for Guess Huff and Ike Law, near Wilder and later for Frankie Brown, near Homedale, before taking the police force job.

When he finds time for them he enjoys hunting and fishing.

Trojans take top honors at track meet Saturday

Homedale's Trojans, on the flying heels of sprinter Larry Smith, ran away with the teams honors Saturday afternoon in the District Three class B track meet at Nampa's Bulldog bowl. The Trojans, who won the meet for the second straight year, compiled 50 points to out-distance their other class B rivals.

Smith was the outstanding competitor of the afternoon as he won four events and set one of the seven new records. His wins came in the 100, 220, 440 and broad jump. In the 220 he posted a new mark of 22.9.

Finishing second to the Trojans was Kuna, which scored 33½ points. Then came Marsing and Riggins, 22 points each, Middleton 21, Melba 8, Cambridge and Donnelly-McCall 7 each, Cascade 4 and New Plymouth 1½.

Marsing and Middleton each cracked a record. In the high hurdles, Robert Walker of the Huskies won with a new standard of 16.3. Middleton's mark came in the 880 relay, the Vikings winning in 1:37.9.

INTERESTING. The annual round of the tax assessors and collectors is an interesting period to all. The best way to dispose of these publicans is to be prepared with lawful statements and make them on demand. The assessor and collector are unwelcome guests, yet their mission is necessary, lawful and upon them obligatory. Glancing over our exchanges it is alarming to read how numerous are the frauds upon all kinds of revenue. Papers chronicle seizures, confiscations, indictments and imprisonments almost without number, because of frauds in this particular. Why it is, we won't pretend to explain, but it is true that men who bear irreproachable characters in other respects, will commit perjury every time they are called upon for a true list of taxable property. This is a sweeping declaration but as true as gospel. Let all men carefully read the law, review their tax lists as sworn to, and then each ask himself, Have I not withheld goods, chattels or moneys? Or undervalued them? When making my return. Blackstone says in substance that he who withholds any part of a tax due the public commits the same crime as he who puts his hand in the public purse and steals a like amount. Every violation of the revenue law, local or otherwise, is a criminal offence, and if the offender is not punished he's none the less a criminal, and his escape is attributable to his skill in covering up the fraud or the laches of the officers whose duty it is to enforce the law and enforce the law and punish its violators. Tax-payers should remember their liabilities and calculate that officers and grand juries may do their whole duty. We make these statements because the various assessors and collectors are on duty and making "calls." Those who can't stand the assessments had better sell out and go where — if on earth — no taxes are required.

SCHOOL HOUSE. It is next to decide by the new Board of Trustees that rooting a school room is bad policy — therefore one must be built. At present, there are not children enough to make two schools, nor funds to pay two teachers — though the latter might be raised. We understand the Board to favor building a house west of Jordan Creek and north of Bloom & Herd's office. This location would best accommodate all and remove the school a little out (now) of town, which is good policy. We would respectfully suggest that in building a house, the modern style of furnishing be adopted. The cost will be no more and the room much better. It should be finished with a view to accommodate the various ages of pupils — not grown persons; also, have the building and furniture adapted to school purposes and none other. If to be used for other purposes, require the temporary occupants to accommodate themselves to the furniture — and not have children punished from day to day and month to month on any account. Bear in mind that a school house is for children's benefit — not for elections, town meetings, &c. If used for the latter, a short inconvenience is nothing compared to the pupils' ease and comfort.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS. Monday, May 7th, 1868.

Court met pursuant to adjournment. Present — D.H. Fogus and George Carter, Commissioners, and Gilmore Hays, Clerk of Board.

Petition of Bloom and others to declare the road from Minear's Mill up Jordan Creek to Bloom's Mill, a public highway, was received and ordered filed for further consideration.

Petition of A. M. McMillan and others for survey of town of Silver City, was received and ordered filed for further advisement.

The bond of Ezra Mills, County Assessor, in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, was presented, approved and ordered filed and recorded.

Claim of O. A. Palmer for $30, for horse-hire in running road, is allowed, and ordered paid out of moneys not otherwise appropriated.

Baxter Black, DVM

On the edge of common sense Letter to Norm 'bout spring gather

Dear Norm,

I just wanted you to know we're still punchin' cows here on the S X. Not much has changed. The Beacon well is working again. It's opened up the west side for us. We're trying to get the stragglers all into the Kline pasture to finish branding. This morning, three of us rode the Black. I dropped two cowboys at the road gate then drove on to the corrals.

I parked far enough back, unloaded Chaco so I could sneak up and maybe catch 'em in the trap. No luck. I started west to the old railroad bed, then swung back north. Wind was blowin' like a banshee outta the west. I think the high temp was 45 degrees! Warm gloves, wool shirt (with rubber bands around wrists to keep wind from blowin' up my sleeve), scarf, leggin's and lined canvas brush jacket. I was plenty warm till I turned into the wind!

Riding in the big arroyos, it was calmer but the clouds were dark and low on the mountaintops. The sky was the color of the floor in a truck stop shop! Chaco and I made a big circle, never saw a fresh track, except a single day-old bull track headin' north. At least he was going the right direction.

Met up with Frank and Pancho at Black corrals. They headed cross country north. I loaded my horse and hauled three miles back to the Kline where I mounted up and rode to the north fence, then back to the east and eventually turned south to the lower drinker. I saw the occasional fresh track, cows and calves moving toward the drinkers. No cows at the lower drinker, so I swung west into the brush and eased up on the middle drinker ... Ten of 'em! After five hours in the saddle ... ten of 'em. That's not a bad bunch when you're doin' clean up.

I stayed beyond the edge of their nervous zone. Frank called on the walkie-talkie. They were already at the Kline corrals with seven head. I told them I'd hold the bunch at the middle drinker. Twenty minutes later, the boys rode quietly in. Soon as I saw them, I swung wide to the opposite side and we started them up the water line trail. You know how hard it is to keep 'em together on that final drive, 'specially into a stiff breeze! It makes everybody antsy. But it went as smooth as silk and not a word had been spoken. I'm workin' with top hands out here.

Well, seventeen head to the Kline gathered out of 10,000 acres of rough country on a day when stunt doubles and daredevils would have just stayed home. A good day's work here at the ranch. Only thing missing was you, ol' friend. But I could see your tracks everywhere I went. You were there in spirit, at least. I thought of ya when that jack rabbit shot out of the brush, spooked ol' Chaco and slid me sideways far enough I grabbed the horn! I could see ya outta the corner of my eye. You were there alright, keepin' me on my toes.

Take care, amigo, we're thinkin' of you.

Northern exposure redux

Rumors of my demise are exaggerated.

Well, unless one counts moving as a "demise", which I don't. But in order to be with my family, which was unable to relocate to the U.S. of A. I'm relocating — back to the land of poutine and caesars come June. Both of which are consumable, at least in small quantities.

(For those not familiar with Canadian cuisine, poutine is basically fries smothered in gravy and cheese curd, also known as "bucket o' heart attack" and a caesar is a mysterious cocktail involving vodka, worchestershire sauce, Clamato, pickled asparagus and celery salt.)

While thrilled to finally be reunited with my family, I'll miss the many good people I've met in the county, and am vaguely annoyed that I won't be on hand to watch the final decisions on Idaho Power transmission lines and other issues I've followed for two years. I also had my eye on a particularly nice spot near Adrian, but oh, well.

It's tempting to try and paint a thumbnail picture of Owyhee County after two years, but that's a bit difficult. Not as much for me as for some, I suppose, having lived and worked in areas that weren't all that different; Wallowa County and John Day in Oregon come immediately to mind. I grew up in Eastern Washington, where rain is scarce and you can't go deer hunting without seeing someone's cattle (though there are a few more trees there, in spots). I've lived the bulk of my life near barbed wire, sagebrush,

A new bird flies onto the scene

I was in the back yard when I heard the flutter of wings and sort of a high-pitched "screeeee" sound — more like some sort of electronic feedback sound than a bird call. I looked up in the nearby flowering pear tree. It was filled with birds that were eating the berries off the tree branches.

Since we moved to our present home in 1991, I have become a big fan of birds. I like to watch the hundreds of quail who call our subdivision home. One of the things I miss now that I am retired is watching the swallows that nested under a bridge near the business where I worked for the past 14 years.

I have lived in southwest Idaho my entire life. I thought I was pretty well up on the types of birds that call the area home. But the ones in the pear tree were new to me. They appeared to be about two-thirds the size of robins. They had short tails like starlings. Their heads were crested, which is unusual for local birds. Their breasts appeared to have yellow coloring, and their wings were brownish-gray. That was about all the detail I was able to see before the flock, which was quite large, took flight and disappeared.

Several days passed. I was working on the lawn when I saw something on the ground in front of the picture window. A closer look revealed a bird similar to the ones I had seen in the pear tree. It had apparently broken its neck flying into the window.

The dead bird had a rust-colored head and what looked like a black mask around its eyes. On each wing tip was a small cluster of bright red feathers. The coloring was about the prettiest I had ever seen on a local bird.

Now my curiosity was really aroused. I shot a picture of the bird and posted it on an online camera forum I frequent. Then I started doing some searching on my own.

An Internet search for "Birds of Idaho" brought up lots of birds, but unless I got lucky I might have had to look at dozens to find the right one. And some of the listings didn't include photos. On a hunch, I tried to narrow it down by searching for "Crested Idaho Birds." That brought up

Sherburn has proven skill, efficiency as county clerk

After serving six years as an Owyhee County Commissioner, I came to believe that the position of County Clerk is one of the most demanding and critical positions in County Government.

For four of the years I served as Commissioner, Charlotte Sherburn served as County Clerk. She performed the job admirably.

In preparing the budget, Charlotte was always fair. When cuts were necessary, she always offered up her office. She was willing to make the hard decisions and take the heat that always followed.

In clerking for the Board of Commissioners, Charlotte was the model of preparedness. The Commissioner's job is a nightmare if the County Clerk is not prepared with an organized, efficient agenda and the supporting information. Charlotte excelled in this regard.

As for Charlotte's supervisory ability, one only has to look at the top quality people that work for her both in the Clerk's office and the Courts. This is a reflection not only on the individual, but on the supervisor as well.

In bringing the bills before the Commissioners, I could always expect that Charlotte had gone through them with a fine-toothed comb. She is a budget hawk. It is a very difficult and often unpopular job, but in this economy it is even more critical than in years past.

In short, I would be hard-pressed to come up with one area where Charlotte Sherburn was lacking as County Clerk. That is why she has my vote and whole-hearted support in the upcoming election.

Time for husband to get moving on finding a new job

Dear Dave,

My husband was laid off three months ago, and I'm afraid we're about to lose our home. I've been working three part-time jobs to help keep our heads above water, but he says the economy's bad, and he's waiting for the "right" job. The bills are piling up, and I don't know what to do.

— Paula

Dear Paula,

When a guy loses a job it's a devastating blow. Many guys are task-oriented, and define themselves by what they do rather than who they are. That's not a good thing.

When I went broke several years ago, I had to re-define myself in my own mind. I lost my business, and in many ways I looked at that company as who I was. My identity was suddenly gone. Lots of guys go through that when they lose their jobs, and in the process they can lose the courage to go fight again.

I think you two should sit down with your pastor or a good marriage counselor, and talk through this thing. I also think your husband needs a good friend — someone he admires and respects — to verbally knock him around a little and put the fight back into his spirit. Three months of a guy sitting on his butt in this situation is unacceptable. I don't want to hear a bunch of stuff about the economy, a career path, or that he's overqualified. It doesn't matter if you're delivering pizzas or mowing yards, you're never "overqualified" to be a man and take care of your responsibilities!

Sometimes people need a little time to get their heads together when something traumatic happens. I went through some of that, too. There were times when I was just no good to anyone. But at the end of the day I didn't lose my home because I was sitting around doing nothing. Even when I lost all my confidence and felt like a dog, I still got out there and did stuff to put food on the table.

It's time for your husband to get out and do something!

two or three including a winner. My bird turned out to be a Cedar Waxwing.

Further research revealed that the Cedar Waxwing is a very interesting bird. They can be found all over North America. They spend their winters farther south and migrate to the northern U.S. and southern Canada in the summer. They apparently pass through this area every year, although I had never seen them before.

The Cedar Waxwings usually are in flocks of several hundred. Their diet includes berries/fruit off bushes and trees and insects. I found it interesting that they apparently are known for hurting or killing themselves by flying into windows.

According to several online accounts, if there are a number of berries on the end of a branch where normally only one bird at a time can reach them, the Cedar Waxwings will line up on the branch and pass down the berries, beak-to-beak, so every bird gets a share. Their high-pitched call is easy to miss if there's a lot of other background noise.

So, I managed to learn something new. And I have something to look forward to in the fall and the spring when the Cedar Waxwings pass through. I wish they would stay around all summer. I would love to see them do the "pass the berry" routine.

I'm pretty easy to entertain these days.

Uninsured patients must be held responsible for bills

I have recently noticed some letters to the editor in local papers. The concern has been about what happens to people that have no insurance and are treated in an emergency room at one of our medical facilities.

Perhaps some of you have noticed the big write offs that St. Luke's and St. Al's have each year. These are some of the bills that uninsured don't pay to get emergency treatment because they don't have health care insurance. This debt expense is passed on to those of us who do have insurance. We pay for them, which makes our health care premiums higher than they should be.

Now if the politicians of the State of Idaho (and the governor) get their wish that no one take insurance if offered to them from the Feds if they don't want to, I respect their right to do that. However, if they refuse insurance then I suggest that they be required to sign a waiver stating that they are personally responsible for their own care.

If they can't pay, then they must accept a lien against their property including personal property. If this won't cover the bill for their care they simply won't get the needed care. Sorry, it is their choice.

lodgepoles and highly annoying horses.

You can contrast rural cattle areas with other places I've lived, like Tokyo, but that's not especially useful. It's like comparing bobcats and blue whales. They're both mammals, but you're not going to find a lot more in common above a cellular level.

On that "cellular level", one thing that can be said of everywhere I've lived is that, while each community or culture sees itself as unique, they're really pretty much of a muchness. People are, in the end, people. They like to work, play, spend time with family and complain about the weather. The particular details of each locale are different, but the guts of any community are, basically, the same. In Tokyo it's your ku, your district. In rural Japan it's your township. Here, your county, ditto Wallowa and Grant. Most people define themselves by a geographic area bounded largely by shared culture, but if you take away the window dressing, we all live in the same town/city/remote ranch. What we do for fun and how far we drive to see our friends are the only major differences I've ever noticed.

So, in the end, it's all about people, not places. I find it almost impossible to make other comparisons, having worn off my hometown loyalties many thousands of miles and more than a few years ago. I tend to judge places by how well people act, how they get along, and what they say versus what they do.

For the most part, Owyhee County folks rate pretty well on my scale.

To shamelessly rip off J.R.R. Tolkien's great farewell speech: Two years is too short a time to live among such excellent people. I know less than half of you half as well as I should like, and like less than half of you half as much as you deserve.
